

We're looking for a Public and Competition Solicitor

Naturally, we want someone with a fantastic work ethic

Duncan Cotterill has four offices in four distinct markets underpinned by an energetic, diverse and collegial partnership. We think as one, but grow as four.

As a full service law firm we deliver quality legal advice and exceptional value to our clients who include leading private and public sector organisations and high net-worth individuals.

We are seeking a talented, ambitious senior solicitor for our Wellington team. Ideally, you will have 3-5 years' experience in public sector, and competition law. The work in this team is diverse, interesting and challenging. You'll be part of the wider Duncan Cotterill network, with the unique opportunity to join a team that works across the firm serving our clients on a national basis.

You may already have a broad background across all of these areas, or perhaps you have specialised up until this point and now looking to broaden your experience.

This is the perfect time to advance your career in a supportive, highly successful and growing firm.

You will bring the presence of mind, skills, flexibility and attitude to get involved and respond to situations as they arise.
