

We're looking for a Litigation / Employment Solicitor

Naturally, we want someone with a fantastic
work ethic

2 - 4 years qualified - Wellington

Duncan Cotterill has four offices in four distinct markets underpinned by an energetic, diverse and collegial partnership. We think as one, but grow as four. As a full service law firm we deliver quality legal advice and exceptional value to our clients who include leading private and public sector organisations and high net-worth individuals.

We mix and work with enterprising people. They recognise and value that the way we work and think mirrors their own capabilities, breadth of knowledge and hands-on style of delivery.

We are seeking a talented, ambitious litigation solicitor for our Wellington team. This role would be a great opportunity for someone who is seeking a mix across commercial litigation, health and safety and employment. You may already have a broad background across all of these areas, or perhaps you have specialised up until this point and now looking to broaden your experience.

This is the perfect time to advance your career in a supportive, highly successful and growing firm. The work in this team is diverse, interesting and challenging. You'll be part of the Duncan Cotterill network, with the unique opportunity to join a team that works across the firm serving our clients on a national basis.

You will bring the presence of mind, skills, flexibility and attitude to get involved and respond to situations as they arise.

If this sounds like you, please apply by email to Kirsten Wood, HR Manager at: careers@duncancotterill.com

Moving on tomorrow.
Today.